

// ARTS&ENTERTAINMENT: HIGHLIGHTS by Mallory Gnaegy | A&E Editor

Allyn Gallup exhibit displays homegrown talent

"Made in Sarasota" is a simple and appropriate title for Allyn Gallup Contemporary Art's most recent exhibit. On March 7, the gallery opened the exhibit featuring already established big names of Sarasota along with some of its up-and-coming talent. The big names of internationally renowned Sarasota-based artists, as well as their quality of work and diversity of mediums, drew a crowd of more than 200 people throughout the evening.

The artists represented include Kim Anderson, Jean Blackburn, Jorge Blanco, Aaron Board, Tom Carabasi, Hugh Davies, Robert Farber, Nancy Hellebrand, Susan Klein, Dennis Kowal, Andrew Kuziak, George Pappas, Vicky Randall, Gayle Fulton Ross, Rob Tarbell and Susan Zukowsky. The exhibit runs through March 29.

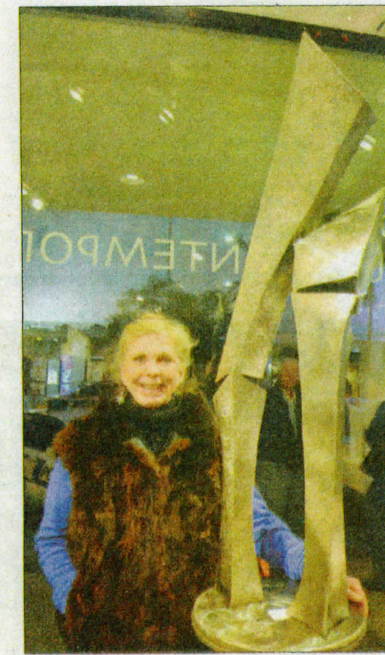

Photos by Mallory Gnaegy

Jorge Blanco and his piece "Metamelon"

Kim Anderson, her children Oona and Oscar Lofgren and Allyn Gallup in front of Anderson's "Fountain"

Vicky Randall with her piece "Clockwork for Brancus"

Jill Hoffman-Kowal in front of her husband Dennis Kowal's "Menorah"

Andrew Kuziak with his piece "Golfer"

Artists featured in the exhibit: Aaron Board and Rob Tarbell

Jean Blackburn between her work "Sweetwater Two" and "Sweetwater One"

George and Sarah Pappas with George Pappas' "Casino"